If your ground is too compact, and needs night. Drill your nursery plants in flowering, and set them out in rows at evening parties. "Old man" should be treated tenderly. Dress your oldest plants with great care. Weed poor relations and sow carraways in beds of dough. If your lilacs flower too profusely do not prone them; simplyleave your gate open over night. If you are young and inexperienced, our advice is, get a husband-man. Water the grass plot with eau de cologne; it will impart a rare flavor to the linen when bleaching. Do not manure your violets; if the soil and surroundings are poor-leave your gate open over night. Make flower beds up with a spoon, and irrigate with lemonade. Do not use a roller for all ordinary purposes, such as breaking up lumps and pressing down the soil--leaving the gate open over night is sufficient. In truth, we think all the results may be obtained by this process, though it is not always necessary to open it yourself, there being plenty who will do it for you.

Book-Binding .- There is connected with the SENTINEL office a complete BINDERY, under the control of the best workmen, where we execute our own work at a moderate price and in the best manner. The approaching campaign is to be a memorable one. The battle will be fought acelously between the friends and the ensentes of Freedom, and the ground contested inch by inch. In view of these facts, it is apparent that the dissemination of Republican papers and documents becomes of vast and vital importance. In order to farmsh the WALKER SERVICES to the people of the North-West, during the Compaign of 1860, w. have concluded to offer the paper, PRON THE ROTH OF MAY TO THE 16TH OF NOVEM-Eas, at the following unprecedented liberal

Work for Republicans in Do.

Wilhout denying expressly that Democracy has all the brains—as was recently asserted by a prominent speaker in that party-we'do. not haddate to say that in the proportion that men read and think, they become Republisher. Two-thirds of the masses who with mechanical regularity vote the Demo. cratic ticket, do so from an undefined impression left on their minds by the sophistry of party leaders, that the thing is all right, that Democracy is the cause of the poor man against the rich, the only safeguard of honn. The universal apaf their speakers, is to their pockets. You are oppressed," they say, "by men who rob you of your pittance to adorn themselves. Ours is the People's Partyopposed to all aristocracy." Any one who has ever beard a Democratic speech delivered b fore an assemblage of the working classes, must have recognized this peculiarity.

Another conviction, in the minds of these people, is that Republicanism is aiming indirectly at a subversion of the present National government-of course such an idea is conained to the few who receive their political nutriment through unscrupulous haranguers on the stump-but the idea is none the less formidable--inasmuch as there is no possibility of a counteracting influence reaching them. Republicanism is nullification, dissolution, prescription and treason by turnsand what is the worst of it all these false statements and the infallibility of those who make them are always firmly believed in by men who are predisposed from association, edication—or lack of education to scout every thing outside of the regular Democratic nomination. This is, after all, not so much a matter of biregret, when we consider that ignorance and hightry always were and always will be ready to be whipped into the service of their masters; it is perhaps a matter of gratulation to a party that it depends, not on the blind adherince of its votaties so much as on the intelligent volution of its component parts; but there is a possibility that where false state—there is a possibility that where false state—there is a possibility that where false state—the content of the meanting the means and to throw obstacles in the way of any further developments. This is one of the immediate results of the President's message, for when Mr. Schell first testified had been raised in New York to his knowledge, exclusive of other funds, which had been paid over to Mr. Police in Pennsylvania. The understanding was the heart meeting, but in the meantime the message had been sent to the House, and he and what is the worst of it all these false April 3d, writes as follows:

be stated that thirty or forty thousand doly lars had been raised in New York to he party that it depends, not on the blind adherance of its votaries so much as on the intelligent volition of its component parts; but there is a possibility that where false statements and accusations form the staple of often mere and accusations form the staple of often mere and accusations form the staple of often its will be led away. And this is the point to which we solicit attention. If, indeed, it can be called an argument—the staple of their elegance is, that Republicans seek the salve its powers that the country should know who subscribed the money in New York to the seeriflee of country, and that the personal liberty of a slave in paramount to the political librity of th light. Its progress from its inception to the present time has been a stately triumph. -Nome of the pageantry of a great and sudden rerulation; but the sublime speciacle of a rlow, but vigorous increase of strength-of men menth by mouth and year after year harning that principle was better than policy, and coming out boldly under the ban-per of Human Rights. Wherever facts—the atoms of truth—were allowed to permeate, there has been a falling off in the ranks of Democracy. Men have awakened to find that the battle was not between sections—It was not between rights but that it was right arrayed against a great wrong. That Republicanism was, after all, the natural instinct of every liberty-loving heart. And all the gloss of policy and compromise was unavailing to cover up the radical-prime! Fact that Human Freedom was the basis, the incentive, and the object of the

it is, therefore, incumbent on all who have It is, therefore, incombent on all who have the interest of the party at heart, to aid in the diffusion of light. Let the people see who it is that works for, and who it is that defeate a Remeatend bill. Let them understand who it is would violate pledges and suppressions to extend the area of Slavery; give them note and professions in singular contrast, that they may disseen the difference. Let them read, read, read. Every accap of villalry and every segment of the great circle of bistory is attainable, and is replace with logic and can be given Republicanism. A Model Democrat.

Mr. Widfall represents the sovereign State of Texas in the Senate of the United States. Mr. WIGIALL, we need not say, be-Circulate Truth among the People!! longs to the modern school of Democracy and rejects, as heretical, the teachings of the old fathers of the party. Mr. Wigfall firmly believes that no good can come from the North, and is firmly convinced that an immediate dissolution of the Union is the only specific for the ills of which the South complains. Mr. Wigfall announced these sentiments in a very spirited speech made by him in the Sepate, a few days since. The speech, though emanating from such high Democratic authority, has not wrought that immediate conviction in the public mind that Mr. Wigfall looked for. Indeed, the preponderance of popular opinion, both North and South, is decidedly in favor of the Union; and in our judgment it will require an army of such parliamentary orators as Mr. WIGGALL to affect that sound sentiment.

But nothing discouraged by his first failure to enlighten the public mind, Mr. WIGFALL has ventured upon another effort. This time his theme was the Homestand Bill, which has passed the Republican House and is now undergoing the severe ordeal of the Democratic Senate. The Texas Solon regards I won't topice, (to one address) - $0 00 this bill as fraught with all manner of mischief, and especially denonnees it as a "Black Republican" measure, which is calculated and designed to secure the Territories of the United States to FREE LABOR. We copy, for the edification of our readers, the Democratic portion of them epescially, some extracts from the debate in the Senate last Wednesday on the bill. It must be conceded that Mr. Wigfall distinguished himself on the occasion, and laid down the Democratic docten times as many documents in any other trines on the subject with great force and dis-

Mr. Wigfall (Dem., Texas) disolaimed wishing to make it a party test. He proceeded at length and said; donations of aiterceeded at length and said; denations of after-nate sections would prevent the sale of the public lands. The passage of the bill would be the abandonment of the revenue, and also an expense to the Government, and it would be better to give $160 out of the Treasury to the homeless, than to donate land and go to the expense of establishing land offices to survey it. Ilis railroad bill was for the prac-tical purposes of transmitting naval and inflitary stores. The Homestead bill was for paupers. It was popular totalk of the poor, inilitary stores. The Homest-ad bill was for paupers. It was popular totalk of the poor, Poverty, he said, was a crime. The man who was poor had sinned, and there was a screw loose in his head somewhere. He would amend the title of the bill to read, "For the encouragement of crime, providing for criminals, and violating the Constitution." It was popular, he repeated, to talk of the bone and sinew of the land, of wool, hats sud broggas. but poverty was a crime. He would bone and sinew of the land, of wool, hats suithogans, but poverty was a crime. He would not pender to prejudice by such talk. The bill provided for the Purlicus of London, the Five Points of New York, and criminals who violate the law when they get on the lands. The lill provides for those who could not the lands for those who could not the lands for the surplus as Counterman rind to The lill provides for those who could not provide for themselves. Gentlemen tried to be popular in the introduction of such a bill. It was a great mistake of any man to suppose that the people had no sense. [Laughter.]

These lands would be occupied by the outpourings of isits, &c., and when they were represented in Congress, he would like to see the man who wore the ermine. Great God! What a sight it would be Mr. Wilkinson(Rep., Min.) asked if Texas did not give away lands to her own citizens and foreigners.

Mr. Wigfall asked if the Senator was not

[Laughter.]—Texas was a free, sovereign State, and exercised rights which were not delegated to this miserable one-horse concern in Washington. [Renewed laughter.] He had understood Mr. Wilkinson to say he was a Know-Nothing.

Mr Wilkinson replied, he did not say so The Senator was a little obtuse to-day .-[Laughter.]
Mr. Wigfall continued at length. He thought the patronage of the Government in this respect ought to be given to the States. The bill would exclude slaveholders from the Territories, and provide for paupers and a fanatical population. It would be a Free-

From Sharp's London Magazine. MY GHOST.

[CONCLUDED.] At night I retired to the library. I had writing to do, which must be done for to-morrow's post. I wrote my letters, and then threw myself into an easy chair by the dying firs. Instead of Amy, thoughts of Daisy rose within me—thoughts long stifled and dead. Those summer days came back—the maddering of Landslin, the sketches, her dead. Those summer days came back—the wanderings of Landslip, the sketches, her childish petulence, her with spirits, her fits of melancholy, her foolish dreams and speculations. I remembered how she used to disappear in the hazel-thickets; how her little head had lain upon my knees; how at that last parting she laid herself into my arms and passionately kissed me. Now that she was dead it seemed as if her marriage with last the was mind away. She was mind Lowther was wiped away. She was mine once more. The old feelings rushed back in a torrent; I tried to stem them, but in vain.

a torrent; I tried to stem them, but in vain.

My heart awake from its sleep, and proclaimed its omnipotence, and my frigid reason shrunk away before its fiery scepter.

There was a sound. The handle of the door turned, and the door creaked and opened. Good God! was I mad?

There, in the doorway stood Daisy—a little figure dressed in black, the same thin face, the same thick hair. The same treble voice uttered my name. A moment, and she was gone. I rushed forward, and there was nothing. was nothing.
A lamentable weakness this. My head

Broad sunlight mostly dispels the imaginative lunacies of oversight. I had feverish dreams, in which Daisy and Amy played fantastic parts, interchanging their identity—Amy dead, Daisy alive again—becoming inextricably confused in each other, until they united and mingled into one phantom, which I pursued vainly-a shadowy something, which I permed with a passion and quenchable and hopeises, with a mental determination amonquerable as it was fruitless. But all these clouds of darkness melted away at once before the cold light of the morning sun. When I descended to breakfast I was the same caim, reasonable person I had been

THE SENTINEL.

We were standing in the parlor—
I, and as I could be,
For Facule was to leave us
In the Western train at three.
I felt confounded nervous,
As my patituting did ope
To whisper, ere she left us,
"Oh, Fannie, is there hope?"

And kissed her as she told me,
'I don't allow, you know,
Such questions to be put to me;
And, prither, let me go,''
So she ran out of the parior
As if earing not a jot,
But soon came running back again,
For something she forgut.

I draw her very closely.
With my arm around her waist;
I presset her for an answer,
As she hid her pretty face,
"Indeed, you must be crasty,
Bewitchingly she said.
"To think so good a girl as I
Should leave her Ma to wed.
So do not talk to me this way—
You'll teaxe me out of life;
I never dreamed of such a thing,
O'being, John, your wife,"

Mr. Hickman, from Committee on Judiciary, made a report on the President's protest, recomming the positions of the latter. They asy, among other things, they cannot refrain an expression of their deep regret that an officer who prides himself upon the fact that the people have thought proper to invest him with the most honorable, responsible and dignified office in the world, and who declares be task proadly conscious there is no public act of his life which will not bear the stricter crustiny, and that defea an investigation, should forget among the surroundings of peace, and power, and flattery, that he is the revenue of that same people, and that he should skinisk back in anger and terror from a simple inquiry into his stewardship.

This is the first time under the Republic that a Chief Magistrate has left admission that he had been made oblivious of the origin and explainment character of his position, by the conduct by approbation, would be to cancille the kingly pracogative and proclaim that rightful rule came by the grace of God and not from the confidence of man. The action, always charitable in the interpretation of acts and motives, is not prepared to overlied that a delinquency.

It is a mere inquiry that is proposed. Mr. Corode's resolutions do not contemplate a judgment, and therefore there can be no formal trial under them.

So numerous are the proofs that the wise and great men of our earlier history entertained forebodings of the very opposite character from those the President ascribes to them, that it is difficult to resist a disposition to attribute insincerity to the President to accomplish the purposes of his protest. The world is but a great battle field for power, and it may ever its always stealing from the that that power is always stealing from the

If surversal history teaches a lesson, it is this that power is always stealing from the many to the few; that executive heads of nations absorb popular rights, and that all revolutions are on the part of the people not to establish throbes, but regain that which has soon to fear that which every other nation has suffered. MARINE ITEMS. MONDAY, P. M.

Weather cloudy. Wind N. E., accompanied by iriszling rain, and rather a heavy sea outside. FIRST CLEARANCE FOR THE LOWER LAKES.-The Northern Transportation Co.'s propeller Buckeye, Capt. Rossman, arrived from Chicago yesterday, par-tially loaded, and completed her cargo here. She was entered at the Custom House to-day as having cleared, but the heavy weather will delay her departure until o-morrow morning probably. The propeller Wisconsin, of the same Line, also expects to leave to morrow for the Lower Lakes with a full carge from this port. It is thought that the Straits will be open by the time hey reach there.

The schooners H. L. Lansing, and Three Bolls ar oth ready toaded with grain in our harbor, awaiting the first announcement of the opening of the Straits is Tits official register kept in Oswego for the Light house Heard shows the water of Lake Ontario to be 29% feet above low water mark, and showing a fall of the water since the let of July, of two feet, Ton bark Buckeye, built at Covington, Ky., in 185 and taken down the Ohio and Mississippi, and thence to New York, has been sold in the latter city for $7,-500. She rates A 11/2 and registers 826 tons.

GONE TO PASCES. - The Detroit Tribune says of Cap Correcte, of the propeller Engle, reports that the schr.
May Queen, which has been on Tawas Beach since ber, exposed to the fury of the winds and th action of the ice, is fast going to picces. She is gone amidships, and her spars have disappeared. The May Queen, it will be remembered, was purchased here by Mr. Charington, of Orwego, last Fall, she loaded her with wheat for that port, and on the sence of a beacon at Tawas Harbor.

Marinurs' Merrino,-A meeting of masters an purpose of establishing a regular and uniform rate of seamen's wages for the ensuing apring; Capt. Kirsy, of the bark Sunshine, in the Chair, and Capt. J. D. Sixelain acting as Sermary. A series of resolutions were unanimusly passed, fixing seamen's wages for the ensuing spring at $25 % month for the run from Chicago to Buffalo, or Osweyo, or other ports on the lower takes, and $20 $2 month for the run round; and lectaring "that in the sense of the meeting all vessels should ship their crews at the Shipping Office for the purpose of benefitting owners, masters, seamen, and inurance companies." Those present at the meeting agreed to sustain the latter resolution, and hereafter thip their men from the Shipping Office, as well as use their influence to make the practice general. The Detroit Tribune of Saturday evening says:
